

Come see what we're doing!

Russel Bluck, Managing Director of UraniumSA, will be in Whyalla to talk about the uranium discovery at Mullaquana, south of Whyalla. He will be able to tell you about how the Company hopes the discovery will be developed through trials towards possible production, talk about the opportunities and answer any questions you have about the project. Please catch us on one of the following dates.

About the Mullaquana discovery

UraniumSA discovered uranium mineralisation at Mullaquana in December 2007 and is now working towards a field leach trial to determine if the uranium can be extracted by the in-situ recovery (ISR) process (no commercial uranium is produced or exported at this stage). As part of this work the Company is doing more drilling to establish the size of its Blackbush Prospect and studies of the environment and ground waters in the area. The Company is working through the requirements of State and Federal government agencies to meet the regulatory requirements to conduct the field leach trials.
